

Wolf Story

By Chloe

Once upon a time, there was a family of wolves and a family of humans, and they were at war.

The humans gathered all the other people in the village and the wolves gathered all of the animals and the war started. The humans were too tired from running, but the animals were ready to go.

And the wolves ate them, and no one ever messed with them again.